
ABSTRACT

This invention is in the field of Chemical vapor infiltration and Chemical vapor deposition (CVI/CVD) . More specifically, this invention is directed to method and apparatus for weighing parts being subjected to the CVI/CVD process, during the process itself to indicate a weight change thereof. The process may be terminated or altered as desired based upon the weight gain information.